What happened

The top three online games to play in March 2020 are PUBG, Blackjack, and League of Legends.

Of late, you can find several online games which are free to play and you would surely enjoy playing all those games. Playing online games is a perfect way to reduce stress, as it is a great way to escape into a thrilling world where you must win. With so many games available in the market, it is really difficult for the users to find some good genuine online games for sure. Are you looking for the best 3 online games for the month of March 2020 now? If yes is your answer, then here are the best 3 online games which you can play right now itself.

PUBG

PUBG is one of the most famous and genuine games available for gamers worldwide. If you haven't played it, then you must play in March 2020. It is available on Android, Xbox and Windows and also one of the most played games. You should note that it is a multiplayer game in which you as a player and other 99 real-time players will be taken to a remote abandoned island. The main goal for each player will be to eradicate the competition with the help of any method and be the last person standing. The game map changes every minute, directing you to relocate to a new area, and completely damaging you until you do.

If you are not able to enter into a new safe zone, then you will be dead. If you are the last person standing by killing other players, then you would get the reward in the form of "chicken dinner". After completing each round, you are going to get in-game currency which you can use for buying cosmetic gear to change your character. This game has a fantastic concept and you are surely going to love it.

Blackjack

If you love playing casino games, then you should try Blackjack right now. Blackjack is one of the most popular online casino games available for users. This game is very easy to learn for you and you will play it easily without any hassle. It has a "perfect" strategy scripts which you must follow and it provides one of the highest rates in the casino. The game is available at all times with higher payout rates and lower minimum bets. One of the main advantages of playing this online game is you can play it without paying anything. Yes, it is completely free to learn before you keep your own money on the table.

If you want to change the settings and know how the game feels, there are various options that you can use to personalize it by considering your overall preferences. Just go to the settings options and select Fast Play for speeding up the game process or just change the table color with the help of the paintbrush easily. The personalized features and fine-looking design will give you a better gaming experience. The game does not have a lot of flaws, but you can try additional blackjack variations if you are looking for something a bit unique and better.

League of Legends

League of Legends is also one of the popular and genuine online games available for the users. It is almost 11 years old and still remains a popular one among its players because of the enthusiasm that it creates and its spectacular mode scene. You would be amazed by knowing that it has more than 100 million active players currently and more than 7 million are concurrent players. It is a multiplayer online battle video game published and developed by Riot Games.

This game is highly successful because it is really fun at all skill levels. You should note that the game premise is really simple- two teams of five battle and win by destroying their opponent structure named as "nexus. Once you reached to new level, you will get more power and options. This game has a solid visual experience with great music and solid graphics. There is little violence in the game, but not too much. So, you should better play this game with your friends and family members.

Conclusion

Finally, you are aware of the best 3 online games for the month of March 2020 to play. I have personally played all the above-mentioned games and really appreciate the great features and graphics of the game. I would suggest you try any one of them to have better gaming experience. Just download these games and enjoy your free time.
