- Most popular email hosting questions

In order not to miss anything, read the article to the end!

Four Factors to Look For When Choosing a Company

In this article, experts recommend considering storage limits, mobility, spam filters, and security. Why these characteristics?

The storage limit is the first must-have question to a provider when picking a hosting. The more space, the less often you have to delete emails. Sometimes business correspondence should not be removed at all, as it can contain valuable information. So think again before you save on storage.

A spam filter is another vital issue when we are talking about correspondence with business partners and customers. Without spam filters, you can never be 100% sure that letters reach the recipient.
