Bottom line

Of late, you can find many online streaming services providers available in the market. With so many options available, it becomes difficult to choose the perfect one for your entertainment for sure.

Of late, you can find many online streaming services providers available in the market. With so many options available, it becomes difficult to choose the perfect one for your entertainment for sure. Zee5 and SonyLiv are the two popular online streaming services available in India for users. Let's understand both streaming services by comparing them with each other right now.

Zee5 Streaming

Zee5 is one of the best regional content video streaming services, which have been highly improved now. If you are big fond of Zee Network TV shows, you should only go for the Zee5 video steaming service without any second thought. After becoming a premium subscriber of Zee5, you can watch several regional movies without any hassle. There are several Marathi films like Natsamrat and Katyar Kaljat Ghusli that are available for the viewers.

You can download the Zee5 app from Ios App Store and Google Play Store. It works on all the devices which have iOS 9.0 and Android 4.1 and above. The app has a simple and easy-to-understand user interface for the users. You can also run Zee5 on Android TV and Amazon Fire TV. It has both premium and free models. You need to pay only Rs 99 for subscribing to Zee5. If you want to watch the premium content, you need to pay Rs 150 monthly.

SonyLIV Streaming

SonyLIV is the only first video streaming service launched by the Sony Networks India Pvt Ltd. It was launched in the year 2013 and covered 20 years of content from the Sonny channels. As a user, you would have unlimited access to several Bollywood and Hollywood movies, Web-Series, Short Films, Live Sports, Kids Content, with higher quality viewing and streaming experience for sure.

The app is available to download for free, and also it is supported on various platforms. You can easily watch some live TV channels and movies by paying a monthly subscription fee of just Rs 99. The user interface of the app is pretty simple and easy to understand for the users. You would not face any issues while watching your favorite shows or movies, for sure. The video watching experience is really decent, and you should have good internet connectivity.

You need a minimum of 1Mbps speed for loading videos without any interruption. Users will not get the option to change the quality of the videos as they will stream as per your internet speed. Also, you cannot play forward or backward, and videos do not have any options to include subtitles. SonyLiv will offer you to watch all the sony tv channels like sony max, sony six once you subscribe to the plan.

Conclusion

At last, it is your wish to choose the best video streaming services by considering your overall requirements. I have personally tested both streaming services and would suggest Zee5 to everyone due to its great features and options. The Zee5 app has all the shows currently being aired on Zee TV and its other network channels.

There is a big collection of all the regional content which includes Marathi, Tamil, and Gujarati Movies. Both the service enables us to watch the content over big screen using Chromecast or Fire TV Stick.

So, what are you waiting for? Enjoy your TV shows!
