In brief

If you're looking for the perfect financial management application for your company, look no further than Gusto. With this app, it's all about streamlined convenience.

If you're looking for the perfect financial management application for your company, look no further than Gusto. With this app, it's all about streamlined convenience. So, what does Gusto do? Everything but the laundry, according to user reviews. Specifically, this app is for human resources, employee payroll management, benefits, and taxes.

The app completes onboarding processes for new hires, uploading the information to its cloud and creating customary tax forms to send to the government. In this way, the hiring process is cut down to almost nothing - all employers must do is interview potential new hires, and Gusto does the rest.

Gusto is also a whiz at payroll. Every employer knows that payroll is time-consuming. Even if you have a program to help you complete it, you must do many things manually. That's not so with Gusto, which runs once you set it up. They claim that 72 percent of their customers spend less than five minutes on the payroll.

If you set it up correctly, Gusto will run without a glitch. However, if you do want to go in and change something manually, it's still entirely possible to do so. As a result, the app has a hands-off feel but retains its accessibility when you require it.

Without a doubt, Gusto is one of the best apps to make business flow the way you need it. It incorporates every aspect of payroll management into the app, but it also includes some key HR resources and tax programs, which are available to all team members. You can also choose between different plans, depending on your needs.

The baseline subscription is $39 per month, plus $6 per employee, per month. That includes onboarding of new hires, personal employee accounts, unlimited custom payouts, and payroll scheduling, as well as all the tax forms you need. You also can add and manage employee benefits, such as a retirement fund and health insurance.

All the payouts are processed through direct bank deposits, which helps keep paperwork minimum. The benefits of such a cashless payment system are numerous for employees, employers and consumers in general. Gusto intends to keep things convenient for everyone, eliminating trips to the bank and the risk of losing checks along the way.

This app is a streamlined service you can count on to make your life easier as a business owner. Are you convinced yet? Go ahead and try Gusto for your small or medium-sized business. You won't regret it.
