Before Reliance Jio in the telecom market, the caller tunes were something the subscribers needed to pay. But, for keeping your favorite song as your hello tune, the subscribers need to go through a long procedure and even need to disburse monthly.

However, Reliance Jio changed the entire scenario. Following similar footsteps, Airtel started to provide free hello tunes for several users. Not only this, the telecom operator now is offering the fastest way for their customers to set Caller Tune. The recent update got featured on the Wynk Music app. That was Airtel's answer to JioSaavn.

What is Caller Tune and the Hello Tunes in Airtel?

The caller tune is a Value Added Services (VAS) which was there for a long time, allowing a user to set a song or music as the default ringing tone. If someone calls the user, the calling person will hear personalized music or song rather than the conventional ringing tone.

The service was subscription-based, and initially, it was very high. However, after the entry of Jio, following Jio, more operators are on the way to offer the service for free, including BSNL and Airtel. As per Airtel, the caller tune service is branded as Hello Tune.
