In brief

WhatsApp updated their privacy policy in which your phone number information can be shared with Facebook. However there is an option in WhatsApp to disable this information Sharing.

As you all know, WhatsApp updated their privacy policy so that the phone number and account information will be shared with Facebook in order to improve personalized ad experience. However, WhatsApp is saying that, it will keep user privacy strictly and your information will not be shared without your permission. By the new policy, there are discussions all over and people are worried about the new decision by the company.
