In brief

Whatsapp's recently introduced voice calling feature starts to roll out for IOS users too. The feature was already available for the Android users for the last one month.

Whatsapp's recently introduced voice calling feature starts to roll out for IOS users too. The feature was already available for the Android users for the last one month. Now this feature is going to be available for the IOS users too in the coming week. Whatsapp updated its application with the new feature in the App Store recently, however if you downloaded the new version, you have to wait for a few more days to get the feature active on your phone.
